

Delaney Nichols
Iowa State University

Delaney Nichols is a fourth-generation farmer who lives outside of State Center, Iowa, on her family farm. They have a cow/calf operation and grow corn, soybeans and alfalfa. A second-year student at Iowa State, she is pursuing a double major in Agricultural Business and Agriculture and Rural Policy Studies. While in college, she has been active within the Agricultural Business Club, Sigma Alpha and Collegiate Cattlemen. Additionally, she serves on the Iowa Corn Collegiate Advisory Team for 2022-2023.