DATE: October 10, 2013

RE: REQUEST FOR APPLICATION—NCGA CORN BOARD

On behalf of the Nominating Committee members, Roger Sy, Dave Dahlgren, Marty Amundson, Carson Klosterman and myself, I am enclosing application information for growers to be considered for positions on the NCGA Corn Board.

Candidates will be introduced at the Corn Congress meeting during the 2014 Commodity Classic, February 27-March 1, 2014 in San Antonio, TX. Corn Board members will be elected at the July 16-17, 2014 meeting of the NCGA Corn Congress in Washington, DC. The newly elected board members will begin their service on October 1, 2014 for the FY 2015 fiscal year.

Background Information:

There will be 5 open positions elected to the NCGA Corn Board at the July 16-17, 2014 Corn Congress meeting in Washington, D.C.

Five* terms expiring are:

- Bob Bowman—3 year term (10/1/11-9/30/14), eligible for one additional three year term.
- Lynn Crisp—3 year term (10/1/11-9/30/14), eligible for one additional three year term.
- Kevin Skunes—2 year term (10/1/12-9/30/14), eligible for one additional three year term.
- Paul Taylor—1 year term (10/1/13-9/30/14), eligible for two additional three year terms.
- Pam Johnson, retiring as Chairwoman—has completed eligible board service

 Please note that if a board member whose term is expiring is elected First Vice President, he or she will leave no unexpired term, and the number of board member positions to fill will be 4 instead of 5.*

The Nominating Committee members are requesting applications for these board positions. Application forms are due into Kathy Baker in the St. Louis office by Friday, January 10, 2014.

The work of the Nominating Committee is to review applicant qualifications and nominate the most qualified individuals for consideration by NCGA delegates to the Corn Board. Candidates will be considered based upon the following qualifications.

- Leadership characteristics
- Ability to fulfill responsibilities of the position
- Commitment to the position on behalf of NCGA
- Vision of service within NCGA
- Leadership experience
- Current and future perspective of NCGA
- Personal goals and objectives
- Personal Vision for the Association and corn industry
- (also reference attached Corn Board Position Description)

The Nominating Committee members will discuss candidate applications in January 2014. Per the NCGA Bylaws, the Nominating Committee shall nominate a greater number of candidates than positions on the Board to be elected, and all positions must be elected to the Corn Board by majority vote.

A Nominating Committee Report listing the slate of nominated candidates, biographical information and an explanation of the voting process will be available in February 2014 to Corn Congress Delegates/Alternates, Corn Board Members, Action Team/Committee Members, and State Organization Offices. All persons not interviewed or nominated will be notified by the Nominating Committee.

The Nominating Committee Report will be given on the first day of the Corn Congress, July 16, 2014, and nominations from the floor will be in order that day. All candidates will be expected to give remarks to the delegates on the day of nomination.

YOU HAVE QUESTIONS—WE HAVE ANSWERS!

Who can apply for a position on the NCGA Corn Board?

You may apply if you are a corn producer (owner, manager or operator), and are a member of NCGA, and a checkoff contributor, if applicable.

Where should the application form be sent?

You can send your application by fax, email or U.S. mail to:

NCGA CORN BOARD

Position Description: NCGA Corn Board Member

Purpose:

The primary responsibility of the Board as a whole is to supervise and direct the day-to-day business and policy matters of the Association and represent the NCGA on all matters. To complete these responsibilities, the Corn Board will be comprised of 15 corn growers including 12 members elected by the Corn Congress, plus the President, First Vice President and Chairman of the NCGA who are elected by the Corn Board.

Member Duties and Responsibilities:

Each member of the Corn Board will perform the following acting as a group, or individually as the task requires:

1. Represent the federation of state organizations as an Association in order to fulfill the Association's purpose and coordinate the Federation of Member States. In so doing the Board will act in the best interests of all members and the industry, rather than on behalf of themselves, individuals or individual state interests or to the detriment of Association interests, and shall respect confidentiality within the position. Ensure legal and ethical integrity and maintain Board accountability.
2. Act as a responsible spokesperson for the NCGA to enhance the organization's public standing on all organizational and policy issues. In so doing, Board Members will communicate positions which are consistent with Association policy and purposes.
3. Supervise the affairs and activities of NCGA in partnership with the CEO, who serves as staff administrator.
4. Implement NCGA policy established by the Corn Congress; interpret, further define, respond to and monitor policy matters as well as prioritizing competing policy interests and projects and allocate Association resources to achieve policy goals.
5. Monitor and update a multi-year strategic plan and organization outlook.
6. Have ultimate responsibility for all financial affairs of the Association, including assuring adequate resources. Approve and monitor an annual budget, and develop a financial forecast and operating plan in partnership with the CEO and NCGA staff.

7. Monitor and evaluate all program results, including those of the Corn Action Teams and report results to the Corn Congress, as appropriate, and take corrective action in program implementation as needed.
8. Recruit and orient new Board members and assess Board performance.
9. Individual Members shall agree to serve as liaison to Action Teams/Committees, if appointed, and support the performance of the Action Teams/Committees.
10. Participate, as appointed by the President, in one or more of these committees in accordance with the purpose of the Committee, as defined by the Bylaws:
 - a) Association Relations
 - b) Finance
 - c) Nominating
 - d) Resolutions
 - e) Other committees and organizational appointments, as necessary
11. Establish times and locations for Corn Congress meetings, develop an agenda for actions and policy matters of the Congress.
12. Elect the First Vice President for ratification by the Corn Congress.
13. Select the Chief Executive Officer.
14. Actively solicit input from growers, state organizations and other corn industry partners to contribute to sound, knowledge-based decisions.
15. Complete orientation, attend meetings, participate in conference calls, review meeting materials and represent the Corn Board as requested at meetings, events or activities, to include state organizations.
16. Make attendance at Corn Board meetings and conference calls a priority (versus involvement in the activities of other organizations) and attend board meetings of home state organization(s).

Qualifications:

Corn Board members may find these qualifications helpful:

1. Be NCGA Regular Member who has historically participated as a contributor in their state's checkoff program, if applicable. Will have provided requested information and have completed interviews with the Nominating Committee.
2. Have demonstrated experience, skills or interest in any of the following:
 - a) The capacity to work well with others in a team oriented atmosphere with respect for the responsibilities of the position, and the willingness to commit to organizational goals versus individual or state achievement.
 - b) The ability to understand and focus upon both short and long-term objectives.
 - c) Leadership experience.
 - d) Knowledge of the NCGA and national issues concerning the corn industry, experience within local, state or national corn grower organizations is preferred.
 - e) Background knowledge or experience in organizations or on boards to have an understanding of organization business principles, including ethics, legal, planning and budgeting.
 - f) Experience in working with a CEO responsible for staff and program/policy administration, and an understanding of the boundaries of the different, yet complementary roles and responsibilities of growers and staff.
 - g) Communication skills, comfortable serving as an NCGA spokesperson as requested, to communicate Association policy and purpose.
 - h) Necessary time management skills to balance personal, professional and Association needs.
 - i) Ability to spend approximately six (6) hours per week and 15 to 25 days per year away from personal business to devote toward Association matters. Additional time is required for an officer, as defined in their position description.
 - j) Desire to participate in any or all corn industry, production, market development, product development and informational or educational activities of the Association.

Action Teams/Committees and Standing Committees Of the Corn Board

Standing Committees of the Corn Board:

Nominating Committee

Members and Chairman:

- Appointed by the NCGA President with consent of the board.
- Chairman of NCGA serves as Chair of the Committee.

Composition of the Nominating Committee:

- To consist of five persons, to serve one-year terms.
- Chairman of NCGA (to serve as Chair).
- Four growers (one State Growers Association Board; one State Checkoff Board representative; two growers at-large).

Expenses:

- Expenses of the Committee will be paid by NCGA.
- All nominee expenses are the expense of the state or applicant.

Duties of the Nominating Committee:

- Be well acquainted and familiar with the general population of prospective candidates.
- Seeks applicants from State Organizations and identifies grower candidates who may be considered for open seats on the Corn Board.
- Meets (in person or via conference) prior to Corn Congress Session I to interview selected applicants.
- Announces candidate nominees prior to Corn Congress Session I.

Nominating Committee Guidelines:

1. The Committee shall be appointed as stated in the NCGA Bylaws, and will be announced during Corn Congress Session I.
2. During Session I, the Nominating Committee Chairman will announce all open Board positions, state the responsibilities of the Board and request state organizations and others submit names to the Committee, and announce the timeline for the work of the Committee.
3. The Committee will review all guidelines and responsibilities of their Committee position, and review responsibilities and duties of the Corn Board for use in selecting nominees and will consult with the Board regarding nominations and the process.
4. The Committee will seek candidates from the state organizations and also seek candidates as a Committee.
5. Notification and arrangements will take place for selected candidate interviews. Interviews may be conducted in-person or by telephone and should involve all Committee members. Interview expenses (if any) for the Nominating Committee will be paid by NCGA. Applicant expenses are paid by the state or applicant.

6. Following all interviews, applicants will be informed of the results of the Nominating Committee as soon as practicable after completion of the selection process.
7. Interview Process:
 - a) The Committee will select a greater number of nominees than available positions.
 - b) The Committee will make every attempt to represent the differences within the Association based upon geography, state organization considerations, grower priorities, but will make their selection primarily based upon the merit of the individual.
 - c) Qualities of leadership style, commitment to the position, management skills, association experience, knowledge of the Association, budget experience, personnel and administrative experience, communication skills, ability to maintain confidentiality, willingness to work with others, personal goals and objectives, and a candidate's personal vision for the Association and corn industry will be key subjects of discussion for the Nominating Committee decisions.
8. The slate of proposed nominees will be distributed to all Congress delegates and state offices, with biographical information and/or photograph at least ten days prior to Session II of Corn Congress.
9. The election for Corn Board positions will be held at Session II of Corn Congress. The report of the Nominating Committee and nominations will be reported by the Chairman at the first day's meeting. Nominations can occur from the floor on the first day. All nominees from the floor must provide biographical information to NCGA for use by the Delegates, and all candidates will be permitted to address the Congress prior to voting on the first day of Session II.

Election Process (process for voting at Corn Congress):

On the first day of Corn Congress, the NCGA Chairman will introduce the Nominating Committee members and present the report of the Nominating Committee. The slate of proposed candidates will be announced. Following the report of the Nominating Committee, the President will take nominations from the floor.

All nominated candidates may address the delegates from the podium in front of the stage regarding their candidacy, keeping their remarks within the debate limit of three (3) minutes.

An alphabetical and numerical listing of Corn Board candidates will be shown on-screen after all nominations are made. Each candidate will be identified both by number and name throughout the election. Nominations from the floor will be shown at the end of the listing of nominated candidates.

The President shall appoint an Election Committee of grower members with the responsibility to oversee and implement the election process. The committee will address any questions that may occur, and provide the necessary supervision to ensure the integrity of the election process. The Parliamentarian will assist in the process. Electronic voting will be the preferred method during the Corn Board election. Each delegate will vote via electronic key pad. The results of each round of voting shall be recorded in a report by the Election Committee and handed to the President. The President shall separately declare the election of each available director position indicating who will receive three year terms and who will receive the unexpired term of the board member elected by the Corn Board as First Vice President. The election results will be announced and recorded in the minutes of the meeting.

During the election process, delegates will vote for a total of five* persons to be individually elected by majority vote to serve on the NCGA Corn Board. On the first round of voting, delegates should vote for five candidates, or their vote will be considered spoiled. Subsequent rounds of votes by each delegate must indicate votes for the number of positions still to be elected, and as announced by the Chair to be voted upon, or the vote will be considered spoiled. The President will clearly instruct delegates regarding each round of voting on the number of candidates still to be elected, the names of the current candidates, and clarify questions prior to any voting taking place.

Rounds of voting continue as stated above until 5 individuals are elected by majority vote to serve on the NCGA Corn Board. In the event that no one candidate receives a majority of the votes cast on a ballot, the candidate receiving the lowest number of votes shall be eliminated.

The newly elected Corn Board members will receive 3-year terms, with the exception of the Corn Board member elected with the least amount of majority votes in the final round of voting. That Corn Board member will receive the unexpired term of the board member elected by the Corn Board as First Vice President, subject to ratification by the Corn Congress delegates.

*Please note that if a board member whose term is expiring is elected First Vice President, he will leave no unexpired term, and the number of board member positions to fill will be 4 instead of 5.
